CROSS-BORDER TRADE: LOCAL OPPORTUNITY FOR CAMBODIA

Cambodia, the sister city of Thailand has a slightly bigger size than the northeast of Thailand. Both countries are connected with the natural border, the mountain range and plain land for 803 km. covering seven provinces. We call ourselves as Thai and call people in Cambodia as “Cambodian” whereas they call themselves as “Khmer” and call us “Thai”. There are more misunderstanding between the two countries such as language and culture. Indeed, more than 50% of Khmer language that uses the same word. They have the same culture with Thailand but different in political ideology and government regime which obviously differentiate the two countries.

After returning to the peace and the country steps into democracy, national situation is better. There are positive factors pushing the growth of GDP in the past ten years to reach 7.6% which resulted in the expansion of the middle class people. Anyhow, Cambodians earn a living from trading, agriculture, working in factory, hotel, and restaurant. The most important income source is selling land to foreigners that make Cambodians better their life. Then, they usually buy car, motorbike, mobile phone, electric appliance, and jewel and gold instead of saving cash.

Currently, both governments set the aim to increase the value of trade to 30% per year in 2012-2015. Significant trading channel that has the highest value of border trade is “Rong Kluea Market” at Aranyaprathet District, Sa Kaew Province, which connects to Poipet customs Banteay Meanchey Province, the economic zone of Cambodia. Additional, Rong Kluea Market is not only the main trading point of international products from Thailand and Cambodia but also the source of employment for local people and the tourist attractions of Sa Kaew. Another interesting trading points of Cambodia connects to Thailand apart from Banteay Meanchey is Battambang, Siem Reap, and Koh Kong.

Furthermore, Thai and Cambodia governments expand the cooperation and accelerate the transportation network to be more convenient. Moreover, there is a possibility for establishing economic zone at Thailand-Cambodia border to promote border trade in which also promote opportunity and interest to entrepreneurs who are interested in border trade in this area. The transportation channel in Cambodia for transport products are route transportation by car and cargo ship. Route transportations are 1) Highway no.1 which connects Phnom Penh to Ho Chi Minh, Vietnam, 2) Highway no.4 transport products from Port of Kampong Som to Phnom Penh, 3) Highway no.5 crosses from Thai border at Aranyaprathet District through other main cities of Cambodia to Phnom Penh, 4) Highway no. 7 is one of the main routes used for tourism and trade by cut through Phnom Penh to Kompong Cham, 5) Highway no.13, the Asia route connects 4 countries from Laos to Ubon Ratchthani Province of Thailand, to Stung Treng of Cambodia, and ends at Ho Chi Minh of Vietnam.

Policy of expanding industrial area of Cambodia that fulfill border trading is found in two areas: Poipet O'Neang Special Economic Zone (POSEZ) located in the northwest of Cambodia in Poipet, Banteay Meanchey Province 10 km. far from Thai border, and Koh Kong Industrial Estate occupies 2,000 rai in Koh Kong, located 2 km. far from Thai border. For Thailand, BOI discloses that there are Thai and foreigners investors are interested in surveying the area for establishing industrial estate and factory in the upper northeast in order to support AEC in 2015. If the export target is Cambodia, it is necessary to study border trade corridor and cross-border trade truly.

Policy of promoting investment from foreigners of Cambodia government has been constantly supported. Additionally, the consistent growth of Cambodia resulted in industrial factories and expansion of special economic zone. Therefore, searching for information on requirement, developing quality products, relationship, friendship, an continual monitoring of situation of the two countries in ASEAN and a their negotiation are the vital channels to do business with Cambodia.

“ To understand a holistic culture of Cambodia, Laos, Vietnam, and Myanmar, we need to recollect Suvarnabhumi, the golden cosmic land where many ethnic groups of people coexisted. There were plentiful resources and minerals which old people called “the land of milk and honey”.

People had liberty of living. The climate was not too cold or hot and the land was fertile. ”

CULTURES AND ADAPTATION OF INDUSTRIAL ENTREPRENEURS FOR ASEAN IN CAMBODIA, LAOS, VIETNAM, AND MYANMAR'S PERSPECTIVES

Suvarnabhumi is not the name of state or kingdom, however, the historian regarded it as “a Southeast Asia Land” or currently known as “Southeast Asia” or the ASEAN territory. The former meaning did not in-depth focus on border of ASEAN countries located in the sea. It only stated that the land had the Pacific Ocean on the west and the Indian Ocean on the east. The familiar kingdoms that have been mentioned since before history to present are Dvaravati, Funan, Chenla, Srivijaya, Sukhothai, Lanna, Lan Xang, Ayothaya Sri Ram Thep, Ayutthaya, and Rattanakosin.

“ To understand a holistic culture of Cambodia, Laos, Vietnam, and Myanmar, we need to recollect Suvarnabhumi, the golden cosmic land where many ethnic groups of people coexisted. There were plentiful resources and minerals which old people called “the land of milk and honey”.

People had liberty of living. The climate was not too cold or hot and the land was fertile. ”

CULTURES AND ADAPTATION OF INDUSTRIAL ENTREPRENEURS FOR ASEAN IN CAMBODIA, LAOS, VIETNAM, AND MYANMAR'S PERSPECTIVES

Suvarnabhumi is not the name of state or kingdom, however, the historian regarded it as “a Southeast Asia Land” or currently known as “Southeast Asia” or the ASEAN territory. The former meaning did not in-depth focus on border of ASEAN countries located in the sea. It only stated that the land had the Pacific Ocean on the west and the Indian Ocean on the east. The familiar kingdoms that have been mentioned since before history to present are Dvaravati, Funan, Chenla, Srivijaya, Sukhothai, Lanna, Lan Xang, Ayothaya Sri Ram Thep, Ayutthaya, and Rattanakosin.

Former geography promoted Suvannabhumi to become trade and exchange center of the east world: Indo-Persian and Arab world, and the west world which was Han Chinese. The charms of Southeast Asia in terms of topography, climate, and economy attracted people to settle down which, consequently, resulted in ethnic diversity with blended society, culture, and race. History of Southeast Asia Land had been continued to the new era. This land fascinated people in a different way, thus, Southeast Asia had encountered a similar circumstance but had different political management: the colonialism of the west, World War II, and country reorganization based on the current regime.

Southeast Asia that was a trade center, had encountered with war and was in need of country reorganization. With different vision, Cambodia had become independent from France but had to encounter with unrest situations and Civil Wars. Finally, Hun Sen recovered the country and introduced democratic form of government with the King as Head of State to Cambodia. Laos, after becoming independent from France, had changed the regime to socialism until today. Myanmar, who closed the country because of compensation for war reparations applied Dictatorship and socialism to rule over the country, and just have adjusted to democracy recently. Vietnam was the first country in the region who drive out French from the country and helped Cambodia and Laos from the same situation. However, each country was not be in peaceful situation from the same political ideology. Vietnam had been divided into North Vietnam and South Vietnam before combining the two later until today. It applied socialism which was the similar form with China in which there was special economic zone that people were able to trade. The unrest situations in Southeast Asia that caused the stress, sorrow, even the encouragement occurred to these countries. Cambodian had to face each other in Civil War and during the time of Communist regime. Families dispersed; some assembled later, some died, and some went aboard for a long time. When the country returned to peace, everyone started over from zero with poverty. They hated war and did not want to hear about it; they were working for their better life. When Laos returned to independence, there were sometimes war and they changed to socialism in which government took care of people's well-being so they had peaceful living state and did not cause any trouble for national security. They behaved well in tradition in which make other regarded them as lazy people. For Myanmar, ethnic diversity was an obstacle of unity. Opening the country provided trade opportunity, so Burmese were more interested in trade to strengthen their family. Vietnamese were under the Chinese government for thousand years. Their characteristic completely became Chinese in terms of diligence, trading skills, agility, and seriousness. However, Vietnam had been in war for a long time and they had pressure, sorrow, leaving, and insufficient nutrition. They had more opportunity when the country was opened, and as they had Chinese descent, their potential make them fast succeed.

Southeast Asia narrated numerous stories about cultures. In terms of cuisine, people cooked with fish sauce and pickled fish. Main dishes of people of Southeast Asia were chili paste, vegetables, Thai vermicelli, noodles, and food cooked with coconut milk. During colonialism period, food tradition had changed. Cambodia, Laos, and Vietnam accepted an influence from France. Baguette became local food of these three countries whereas Myanmar had been influenced by Great Britain on food and drinks. British people brought in Indian tea so coffee and tea had become Burmese's favorite drinks.

Regarding arts in Southeast Asia e.g. temples, ancient Khmer or Cambodian were skillful in stone carving. The most outstanding one is Angkor Wat, Angkor Thom and other arts from the same era. Thai and Laos people were skillful in wood, wooden buildings, wooden pavilions, thus, wooden art were very marvelous. However, it would not as sustain as stone, therefore, there were not many ancient evidences. Vietnam had similar arts to Chinese which were very unique since Vietnam was dominated by China for a long time. Myanmar had integrated arts but the main art was stucco buildings, stucco arts, and stone carving.

Southeast Asia and trade in the technology modern world, businessmen in Southeast Asia are in favor of universality. They are dressing in universal manners: polite and modest. Only Laos and Burmese are wearing their national costume. Respecting the elders is the unique characteristic of people in Southeast Asia. Although it is conservative, it is very important to learn. For example, for making appointment, it should be arranged in advance for about one week, in which is quite longer than Thai people expect. People have to be punctual for the meeting because Great Britain and France influence these countries. People Wai or shaking hands for greeting, except Vietnamese who only nod the head a little bit and say greeting. Present name card should do with two hands to show respect and always receive name card with the right hand. To have meal with the elders, allow the elders to start first. In case of a western meal, serving in western style may be applicable. All these practices should be noticed.

In the middle of ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) and the growth of The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), it is unable to deny that Southeast Asia is still attracting people from other regions across the world to make investment. Some industrial entrepreneurs have more interest in investment in ASEAN countries with special rights in trade and investment. There may have some dimensions that concern with ASEAN. The success of businessman may not be circulation or profit but the cooperation with the foreigners in the countries to become trade partnership to move forward circulation. This is the method for sustainable circulation in target countries along with the attempt for success.

Looking for the trade partnership of industrial entrepreneurs is not only for trade negotiation, benefits and advantages but also for creating fascination by learning cultures from understanding the history affecting the current state to comprehend and adjust oneself. Then, try to get use to culture of target country, learn, conceive, and pursue information and learn integration of old and new things. Change old attitude and learning method to be interested in new culture of the changed world. We, then, understand the actual way of thinking and the way of life of target customers in the target countries and apply them to business strategies to achieve the success.

CROSS-BORDER TRADE: LOCAL OPPORTUNITY FOR LAOS

“Laos” the neighboring country Thai people have very close relationship with. They are similar and understand each other so Thai businessmen always choose to make investment in Laos. They feel that it is easy to adjust themselves which is consistent with information of 2014. Thailand is the country who invests in Laos in the second rank, first is China, in real estate business, transportation, and service business. Moreover, Thailand is the important partnership of Laos regards to import and export because of the connected border, and convenient transportation.

Value of Thai-Laos cross-border trade in the past year which expands to 27% (YOY), which is the highest growth rate among the neighboring countries reflects the interest of investment. Furthermore, while Laos has low number of population, 6 million people, Thailand is the first partnership of Laos and has 45% of market share. This is because most of Laos use Thai products and have high brand recognition. They regard Thai products as high quality products. 60% of products are transferred through Nong Khai customs house, the border which directly connects and accesses to Laos economic area, Vientiane.

Physical convenience that stresses on the route of cross-border trade is that the route connects Thailand-Laos from the north to the northeast for 1,754 km. in total. There are 33 cross-border hubs consisted of 13 permanent customs and 20 temporarily permitted areas. Moreover, there are four completed Thai-Lao Friendship Bridge which already open for use, and transportation networks connect Thailand and Laos in which conveniently link to the third countries such as North-South Economic Corridor development connecting Thailand, Myanmar, Laos, and China e.g. Mae Sai- Kengtung-Jinghong-Kunming, Chiang Khong-Luang Namtha-Jinghon-Kunming, and Huay Kon (Nan Province)-Muang Ngoen (Saiyaburi Province)-Pakbeng (Oudomxay Province). East-West Economic Corridor development connects Myanmar-Thailand-Laos-Vietnam: the east: Mukdahan-Savannakhet-Dongha-Hue-Da Nang. All this trading needs border trade and cross-border trade.

Regarding Special Economic Zone policy, Laos has Savannakhet Industrial Estate and Savan-Seno Special Economic Zone that located on R9, a partial of East-West Economic Corridor- EWEC.

There are problems on border trade. First, there is insufficiency of international customs while trading fast expands. Second, trading and payment that most of payment pattern is cash payment. Informal trading which most of border trade entrepreneurs lack of understanding of customs regulation. They understand that it is a waste of time and money so they smuggle through borders. Moreover, purchasing power of Laos in which the difference of GNP per capita between Thai and Laos are obvious and limited by market size. Because Laos has 6 million people, there is limitation to expand the distribution channel into Laos. Trade and standard regulations are different. This is because Laos is under the development of trade system to be more international so the regulation is unstable. The entrepreneurs must constantly study and observe the situation.

Thai SMEs entrepreneurs begins to set the market and expand the business in Laos to fulfill lifestyle and expenditure of Laos people who are becoming more modern and more socialized. They have changed to eat outside, buy instant food instead of fresh food, and buy fashionable equipment and facilitation such as mobile phone and electric devices. All these products need industrial machinery to produce. In the future, consumable products e.g. car, cigarette, and alcohol drink will be in higher demand according to the increasing purchasing power of Laos people. For this reason, this is one of opportunities for Thai entrepreneurs to look for trade channel to increase export value in Laos market. The business to be successful in Laos has to have clear brand, business model, and clear target group. If Thai entrepreneurs are able to make clear on this, they can finally achieve the success in Laos.

EXPORT STRATEGIES OF INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS IN CLMV MARKETS

CLMV markets are in an interest of Thai SMEs entrepreneurs. Many of them give an importance to these markets with various reasons related to their supply since they run small size business and have limited production capacity. At the same time, in the past few years, there was deflation, particularly the middle and lower level markets which affected to SMEs, which the product brands were not very well-known faced an interruption of market growth and an intense competition. Thus, they started to look for benefits outside the countries. However, because of a limitation of readiness and competitiveness, SMEs are looking for “Nearby market” as a first option. CLMV markets have many connections and gateways (which Thai products gain comparative advantages than those from the countries in other regions) to share the market “conveniently” and “with no high expense”. Furthermore, Thai baht currency is popular uses in these countries so it helps reducing a risk of exchange rate to Thai SMEs.

For example, three-fourths of value of trade between Thailand-Myanmar is cross-border trade at Tak and Ranong whereas almost of Thailand-Laos trade are cross-border trade with many gateway e.g. Nong Khai, Mukdaharn, and Ubon Ratchathani. Further, Sa Kaeo has a 170 km. long border connected with Banteay Meanchey Province, the significant economic area of Cambodia. Chantaburi and Trat, at the same time, have border connected to Battambang and Koh Kong where economy is growing rapidly.

In terms of demand, CLMV markets are not large size; some countries are small in quantity such as Laos has less than 7 million population while some are large but have low quality such as Myanmar and Vietnam have 50 million and 90 million population respectively but economic size and GNP per capita are lower than those of Thailand. Luckily, these market have developed with high rate in the pass year such as Laos, Cambodia, and Vietnam economy have more that 7% growth rate in the past ten years and tend to extend in the similar rate in the next years. It foresees an increasing “by leaps and bounds” of a long-term purchasing power.

The most important aspect is a limitation of production capacity of quality products of entrepreneurs in CLMV. Further, Thai products have good image and are in favor of these markets which possibly because of the consumption of Thai television and the distribution of Thai products in the past years. Moreover, Thai scholars and government widely talk about the upgrade of ASEAN to AEC (which including these markets) at the end of 2015 which stimulate an interest of SMEs extensively.

All in all, CLMV markets have competition in a low level. Although Thai products and services had more pressure from the products of other countries, particularly China, South Korea, and Malaysia in the past five years, these markets had more opportunity for Thai products and service. The most important matter is which strategy would bring Thai SMEs to be successful in these markets.

1. Give an importance to Brand In terms of quality, these markets are not large size markets so clearly define target group and look for the method to sell the product to them. These markets will be wider open in the future not only for the product from ASEAN countries who have agreement with AFTA to decrease duty import but also the product from other countries. This is one of the attempt of governments to connect these markets with the world market. We may have learnt about the TPP membership of Myanmar earlier which signal the increase competition of these markets in the future.

Thus, Thai products should take advantages from good reputation and images of “Thailand Brands” as a standard. The consumers in these countries regard Thai products as high standard and quality with the marketing position which responds to lifestyle. All these reasons, Thai products are favorable (including nursing and beauty services, so there are number of wealthy consumers from the neighboring countries across the border for these services). However, Thai SMEs should keep developing “Product brands” to differentiate from those of competitors in local consumers’ point of view. Economic development of the main cities of CLMV in some dimensions, anyhow, still have the same state with up-country area of Thailand in the past 20 years. Traditional distribution channel still have important roles in product distribution.

For example, in Cambodia market, salespersons in restaurant have high influence on Cambodian for choosing drinks. Thus, building salesperson network and offering high profit per sale unit to restaurant are essential. Meanwhile, the consumers in these markets, particularly teenagers and working people, have better economic state. They own television and fridge and are changing to consume more food and drinks produced in their country. Food and drink exporters, then, should focus on free testing and take advantage from Thai TV advertisement. Thus, activities and marketing communication channels to promote and strengthen brands should appropriately integrate with both traditional and modern methods.

Trademark and intellectual property protection only cover the registered countries. Hence, the important thing is trademark registration and methods for protect your intellectual property in the target countries. It is often found that product imitation proceeding by the third country, especially China. As a result, applying for trademark registration in the target market, even in China, is the compulsory condition which SMEs must comply with. It may include naming product name in local language and developing new package to comply with law, marketing, and logistics.

2. Partnership and network utilization in business Thai businesses are currently expanding to CLMV. In case of those businesses are customers or partnerships, or the products/services are partial of supply chain, “monitoring” and “observing” the movement is required to make a move with those businesses. For example, automobile parts company may follow automobile assemble company to invest in other countries in order to efficiently supply the parts to production line, reduce logistic cost, and gain benefits from the new market. Importantly, this approach shut the opportunity of the customer and business partnership to try other products and services of other suppliers which may affect the parent company in a long term.

Markets in these countries may have environmental factors similar to those of Thailand in some dimensions. The most similar factor is socio-culture factors between Thai (northeast)-Laos. Entrepreneurs who enter to Laos market probably face few problems and obstacles than other markets. If they enter the market with cross-border trade form, they should look for business partnership in a city near Thailand-Laos border to distribute products to Laos market. On the other hands, there may have different environment factors from those of Thailand depends on the area of the country, particularly infrastructure and facilitation which are the obstacle of product distribution and market expansion in each country.

Many countries have long landscape from the north to the south that causes a different marketing taste and behavior. It may be difficult for SMEs to learn and comprehend in a short time. For example, people in North Vietnam have economic and socio-cultural influence from China. They have different taste and behavior from people in South Vietnam, who are more western. Besides, in the countries which development and system are unstable, political factor is very challenging. For this reason, the development of cooperation with local entrepreneurs who have special privilege such as political relationship, relevant business license, and well understanding of marketing is one of strategies to enter the market.

In practical, Thai SMEs’ executives should do the research, and participate in relevant domestic, and oversee activities: study market situation, search for internal information from experienced entrepreneurs, and attend relevant training/seminar, including join a domestic international products expo or go on a field trip for the expo in the cities. Moreover, they should cooperate with Department of International Trade Promotion in each country in advance to arrange the meeting with local entrepreneurs in order to understand the market and enhance opportunity of meeting with potential partnerships, and to compare their attributes before making decision.

You must be hard-working on marketing activities to come across “the right one” for your business. It would not only push your products to easily get into the market and save the cost but also steadily develop the growth of your business in long term. Those people may be your “the answer” once you decide to make the investment in those countries.

3. Selecting the form of entering the market creatively In these markets, SMEs probably have various options. Thailand has long border connected with Cambodia, Laos, and Myanmar while Vietnam is nearby. Pattern of trade is traditional which make cross-border trade (indirect export) and payment making with Thai baht currency becomes popular. From this pattern of trade, it helps Thai SMEs to begin business promptly with least risk. Moreover, it is the suitable time to understand consumers' behavior and environmental factors in CLMV.

These neighboring countries have similar environment factors to Thailand. Thus, you may use exportation (direct) which provides more choices for looking for potential partnership. Furthermore, investing in the target market helps the entrepreneurs using materials, labors, and other production factors to reduce cost and to fulfill the requirement of the customers in each market promptly.

Franchise is one of the interesting methods. No matter what form of your products and services are, you must have management, work manual, and good brand. Franchise enhances Thai SMEs which have restriction on cost to be able to “strengthen” the strengths with local network to speedily expand the network

4. Looking for expanding market and suitable business Currently, these countries have development concentration, thus, it cause the preparedness of laws, regulations, and infrastructure/facilitation and lead to the difference between the potential of markets of primary city and secondary city. For this reason, Thai SMEs should focus on planning the “entering” and “expanding” the market simultaneously. Although these market have high potential, it is unnecessary for Thai SMEs to start with these markets by establishing the factory. I would suggest you to begin and expand the trading in succession to reduce business risk. You may start with indirect and direct export. Then, move to another stage.

Selecting location/city to enter the markets on the very first stage is important. However, setting method for expanding market is more important because “If you fail to plan, you plan to fail.” If so, your market expansion will only be the temptation for one step of marketing. It is to say a big one investment for benefits from tiny opportunity.

Results of an on-going high rate economic growth multiple the significant cities/economic zones of each country. Meanwhile, constant development of urban area of CLMV, Laos and Vietnam in particular, increases GNP per capita of consumers in these economic cities and tends to have higher expansion than GNI. Significantly, besides “purchasing power” of local consumers, these cities receive “backup” from tourists which the number is growing significantly. They are:

- Myanmar – Rangoon, Mandalay, and Naypyidaw
- Laos – Vientiane, Luang Prabang, Savannakhet, and Champasak
- Cambodia – Phnom Penh, Siem Reap, Battambang, and Banteay Meanchey
- Vietnam – Ho Chi Minh City (Saigon), Hanoi, Haiphong, and Can Tho

5. Looking for long term opportunity In business, entering market before other is one of strategies Thailand pay attention to. In terms of production, these countries have hidden positive factors e.g. readiness of natural resources, and other production factors. Some of them have nickname: Laos is known as “Battery of Asia” and Myanmar is known as “Center of Natural Resource of ASEAN”. CLMV is “The source of cheap labor of ASEAN” which the wage is cheaper than Thailand such as Myanmar's wage is only 20%, Cambodia 25%, Laos 30%, and Vietnam 35% of Thailand's wage.

Other advantages of first entering market is that being accepted by local government as if being “the true friend” who stay in the same boat in difficult situation. Apart from general privilege of investment promotion, you may be able to negotiate for “special agreement” in return for the risk of being the first mover. To access all this production factors before other competitors is one of the competitive advantages.

In terms of market, your products and services can create a remarkable brand and easily make circulation and profit in local market. These markets full of expansion of quality purchasing power. Other than the push from domestic quality purchasing power growth, there is the back up from number of foreign tourists and CLMVs. For oversee market, products manufactured in these countries have GSP from the developed countries and the privilege of tariff as the “neighboring countries” from China, in which the products have competitive advantage in terms of price in the relevant target market.

In the situation which the manufacturers employ Thai labor and encounter many problems, especially the high labor cost and sufficiency of skilled labor, including the pressure from products from China and other countries. The investment in CLMV adds more competitive alternatives such as using production basement in those countries to manufacture products and send back to sell in Thailand to retain domestic market.

Long-term vision is necessary. Thai SMEs can use exportation during the first phase of entering the market to have in-depth study on investment law, build relationship with relevant government and private sectors because the regulation of investment in these countries are unclear. Moreover, some countries have condition for foreign investors to share investment with local people and create sufficient requirement for establishing factory in the target market. Political factor of these countries tends to be positive factors that support the long-term investment. Importantly, planning long-term business expansion would allow us to think and move forward to develop business systematically and gain more benefits from foreign markets.

As a consequence, to be ready for entering CMLV markets, I would like Thai SMEs to spend time to analyze information of all aspects and explore the environment in the target cities before making decision by emphasizing on strengths/readiness of products and services. Good luck to all Thai SMEs and hope you are successful in CLMV markets.

THE SITUATIONS OF THAILAND-MYANMAR BORDER TRADE

During 9 months (Jan – Sep 2015), the total trade value was 162,639.49 million baht, increased 6.46% compared with the same period of the previous year, which contained the value of 152,765.21 million baht. The export value was 72,587.03 million baht, increased 4.50% whereas the import value was 90,052.46 million baht, increased 8.11%. Thailand possessed the balance of trade deficit at 17,465.43 million baht.

Thailand-Myanmar border trade ran deficit continually as there was an increasing import of the natural gas up to 11.84%. Before this, it had held import share at 97.64%. The other reason for the deficit was the heavy flood in Myanmar. It did affect the trade as it caused the reduction of exports and imports.

Major exports: Alcoholic beverages, diesel fuel, facsimiles, teletypes, telephones and accessories, non-alcoholic beverages, and textiles as well as threads.

Major imports: Natural gas, cows, buffaloes, pigs, sheep, goats, other products from animals, aquatic animals, and other wooden products.

CROSS-BORDER TRADE: LOCAL OPPORTUNITY FOR MYANMAR

“Myanmar” is the country with 7 states and 7 administration districts as the name “Republic of the Union of Myanmar”. It may difficult for Thai people to understand since each start has its own identity inherited for a long time; it is different from United States that divided by area. People in the seven states are generally called “Minority groups”. They are regarded as republic or the state that applies rules and policies from the government together with its own rules and regulations. They are no longer lawless minority groups as had been known in the past. Anyway, a current government and central administration are more modern with more facilitation and have higher standard of living, more trade. Each government has policy to administrate the state with growth and security since the country was first opened the country in 2011.

Thailand-Myanmar border line is 2,401 kilometers long formed by mountain range, rivers, and ocean. It consisted of 1,681 km. of land border, 714 km. of river border, and 330 km. of ocean border. Ten provinces are connected to Thailand: Chiang Rai, Chiang Mai, Mae Hong Sorn, Tak, Kanchanaburi, Ratchaburi, Petchburi, Prachuab Kiri Khan, and Ranong. Thailand also has the border connected to Myanmar at Shan, Kayha, Karen, and Tanintharyi Region. There are 76 borders which selling and buying service has been found. There are ten permanent customs houses: Mea Sai, Mae Sariang, Mae Hong Sorn, Chiang Dao, Mae Sot, Sangkhlaburi, Prachuab Kiri Khan, and Chumporn, Kra Buri. The important regional customs houses for import and export are 1) Mae Sai, Chiang Rai Province and Tachileik, Shan State, 2) Mae Sot, Tak Province and Myawaddy, Karen State, 3) Ban Phu Nam Ron, Kanchanaburi and Dawei in Tanintharyi Region, and 4) Ranong and Kaw Thaug in Tanintharyi Region.

Myanmar market has the highest growth potential. In the past 5 years, cross-border trade between Thailand and Myanmar has average value at hundred billion baht per year, which is the highest rate among Cambodia, Laos, and Myanmar. One of the factors is the topography in which there are connected borders to conveniently support trading and exchanging goods between people along the border. The most important trade channel for consumer goods is Mae Sot Border, Tak Province, which shares 50% of total value of cross-border trade. In the first half year, the value of cross-border trade at Mae Sot and Myawaddy border was nearly 20, 000 million baht, or 90% increasing (YOY). It is one of the results of an obvious economic growth of Myanmar, especially Myanmar government policy in which to perform a free trade policy and be more open for the outside world.

Since 2011, Myanmar has 51 million people. From the last survey, Burmese are in favor of Thai product brands and quality because of the quality though they have high price. Although Burmese earn low income, they still purchase Thai products because of the satisfaction on products. Myanmar has started to set the country' structure to support the development so that real estate sector and infrastructure are growing quickly. In addition, there are many special economic zones and industrial estates established which cause the continual growth of market. Consequently, there is requirement of machines from Thailand for industrial and real estate sectors. In terms of agriculture, Burmese applies the traditional way of agriculture. Therefore, they use small size machines because they are not expensive. However, Myanmar is in the second rank, the top rank is China, who imports agricultural machines from Thailand. There are many channels to trade with Myanmar importer, but the most convenient channel is Mae Sot-Myawaddy Border or through Mae Sot Customs House to Myawaddy city in Karen State and deliver to the destination.

Currently, Thai government is encouraging Kanchanaburi to become a center of western region of Thailand and a first pilot province of special economic border province zone to support Dawei Deep Seaport and Industrial Estate Development Project of Myanmar, AEC, and to be ASEAN logistic hub. Similarly, Ranong Customs House is becoming economic province for production-base of the region in order to avail of highest benefits from Ranong Port as an import and export gateway in Bay of Bengal. As a result, Kanchanaburi and Ranong will be becoming the significant trade and investment borders in this region. Moreover, the value of cross-border trade between Thailand-Myanmar will be increasing.

CROSS-BORDER TRADE: LOCAL OPPORTUNITY FOR VIETNAM

Landscape of Vietnam is in S shape. The east is connected to the sea while the north is connected to China. There are four seasons in Vietnam. Hanoi is the economic city while Ho Chi Minh is the main economic city in the south. Vietnam is encountering with natural disaster, especially during hurricane season. The cities that have trading potential are Ho Chi Minh, Can Tho, and Haiphong. Vietnam has economic size in 57th rank of the world with Real GDP at 6.2% per year. There are 90 million people, the third country which has the most population in ASEAN. Interestingly, 49% of population are under 30 years which reflects that the majority of Vietnamese are in working-age; the main age which drives the national economic. Vietnamese are similar to Chinese in which they are diligent, determine, attempting, good at trading, though their government regime is socialism.

Regard to cross-border trade, route transportation is the most channel to distribute products from Thailand to Vietnam. Greater Mekong Subregion, which consisted of six countries: Thailand, China (Yunnan), Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, and Myanmar, give priority to this matter so that they establish transportation project to link main cities of four countries to enhance more opportunity for cross-border. It can be seen that Thailand-Vietnam corridor on East-West Economic Corridor (EWEC) is the corridors of the east and west are "cross" to link two oceans: Pacific Ocean on the east and Indian Ocean on the west. EWEC corridor has only one main route. The start point is Da Nang in Vietnam (the important port city of Vietnam) crosses over Laos and Thailand to MawLaMyine in Myanmar. Crossing border at R2 is the second Thai-Lao Friendship Bridge at Mukdahan Province and Savannakhet, and border house at Mae Sot, Tak Province and Myawaddy, Myanmar. The provinces that R2 is crossing over are Tak, Sukhothai, Pitsanulok, A. Lomsak (Petchabun Province), A. Chumpae (Khon Kaen Province), Kalasin, and Mukdahan. R2 has effect to economy as it affects many provinces of Vietnam to have economic expansion more than 100%. For Thailand, it expands 0-50%. In terms of trading, the trade between the regions along R2 is expanding rapidly.

Corridors cut through Thailand to Vietnam on Southern Economic Corridor (SEC) in which link Thailand-Cambodia-Vietnam are Central Subcorridor. begins from Bangkok through Phnom Penh to Ho Chi Min and ends at Vang Tau, on Vietnam coast. Northern Subcorridor starts from Bangkok to Aranyaprathet (this is the same corridor with central subcorridor). However, when arriving in Cambodia border, it parts to the north through Siem Reap and ends at QuyNhon in the central of Vietnam. Southern Coastal Subcorridor begins from Bangkok through the east of Thailand along Gulf of Thailand to Trat Province, across to Koh Kong , Cambodia, and ends at Nam Can, Vietnam.

In the past 5 years, value of Thai-Vietnam trading has increased from 7,242 million US dollars in 2010 to 11 ,826 million US dollars in 2014. In 2014, Vietnam is the fourth rank of Thailand partnership in ASEAN and the 11th rank in the world. Value of exportation from Thailand to Vietnam is 7,888 million US dollars and 3,938 million US dollar for import. The important export product of cross-border trade to Vietnam is non-alcohol drink, fresh and dried food, battery and spare parts, metal and steel products, radio, and television. All these products delivered through customs houses Nongkai, Bueng Kan, Mukdahan, and Aranyaprathet, Sa Kaew Province tends to increase. Machinery is not really trade at cross-border because it needs to transfer through many provinces which may delay and cause damage. Thus, water transportation to Vietnam is the most suitable for this type of product.

Vietnam is in an interest of the investors across the world. Thailand and Vietnam have policy to promote trading and investment. Both agree to promote and facilitate Thai investors and SMEs to invest in Vietnam in various fields e.g. costume and textile, energy, consumable products, tourism, especially industry, which are growing rapidly. Thus, machinery is always the top requirement. However, the crucial competitors are China, Korea, and Japan which Thai products are more efficient such as agricultural machine, parts and spare parts, transportation equipment, and cold storage. Competition in Vietnam market is not easy but there is opportunity to expand if entrepreneurs truly understand the demand of machinery products.

POTENTIAL PRODUCTS FOR CLMV MARKETS

Frequent question Thai entrepreneurs always enquiry is which products and services are in high demand in CLMV markets?. Indeed, the consumers of all markets have are different in status and taste. It is to say that we are talking about the demand of products and services in various quality levels. Additionally, in overall, these markets have indifferent development level and have similar environment conditions. Products and services in need of one market may enter to another market. It can be assumed that Thai consumable products have opportunity and high potential in these markets. However, accessibility to consumers depends on many factors because we need to consider the readiness of Thai entrepreneurs and other factors together.

However, if we consider from economic development level and tendency, these markets demand products and services necessary for economic and social development of the country such as investment in infrastructure and facilitation development project of government sector would lead to the demand in design and supervise services, construction material, electric equipment, furniture and decoration equipment.

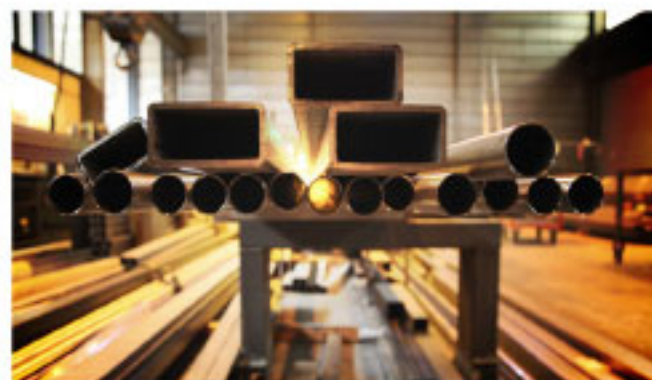

At the same time, in micro level, personal demand such as food and drink, cosmetics, transportation, construction design and residential and office reconstruction lead to the demand of construction materials, house decoration and furniture, and electric equipment, and leasing and real estate business. If all this occurs with urban community development, latent demand will be increasing because of the relocation to big city.

Importantly, the higher development bring about the higher GNI per capita and purchasing power. The demand of necessary products seems to expect for higher quality and images. Anyway, the overall demand quality may not high but opening the market with good quality and image Thai products would assist you to be successful and to raise the price afterwards. Plastic products and plastic household appliance of "Superware" is the best example to this case.

Meanwhile, the demand will share to unnecessary product in an increasing proportion such as costume, accessories, health and beauty service. Marketing for general products and consumable products may be "trapped" in the condition of the importer countries. For example, Myanmar government has conditions to import Thai products such as to import products, the cost should be spent from the income from exportation, must have import permit, limit for 100,000 US dollar import value each time, and set proportion 80% for necessary products before importing consumable products.

Consumable products are categorized into two categories: products produced in Myanmar e.g. food and drinks, textile, personal care products, and household appliances, and high value products e.g. car, and electric equipment. Some Thai SMEs feel that they are "walking into the wall" though Myanmar government, practically, review all the products lists.

Moreover, an economic tendency which is expected to develop “by leaps and bounds” in the next years will be an opportunity for the change in behavior and “derived demand” such as restaurant, transport and logistics business, and event organization business (expo/business opening event), and modern distribution channel. Further, it is the opportunity for systematic and reliable businesses such as franchise business.

In terms of production investment for exportation, these countries have plenty of various natural resources, lot of cheap skilled and unskilled labors, and have privilege for Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) from the developed countries in which increase competitiveness of those products.

What are the strengths and weaknesses of CLMV which are beneficial for Thailand to make decision for trading and how these markets have potential for Thai products and services?

Myanmar has three outstanding characteristics. First, natural resources and production factors such as metal mineral and oil, natural gas, and jewels, especially colored stone and jade, water sources, and unskilled labors. Second, geography that the country is located between China and India, which are the countries have the most population in the world and growing in a high rate. The requirement for making relationship with neighboring countries and looking for the gateway to the southern sea of China, a connection with ASEAN of India, and the initiation of grand projects of power countries such as Dawei Port Project and Port area project of Japan, would make Myanmar to become important in terms of strategy and gain both direct and indirect economic benefits. Last, positive economic and political dynamic will upgrade the confidence of foreign investor in a long term.

On the contrary, to make investment in Myanmar has three concerns. Firstly, the high cost of land, especially in Rangoon which is the most important economic area. Some say that the land is more expensive than gold or as expensive as business area in Bangkok. Secondly, political factors and strict investment laws. Lastly, Myanmar is not ready in infrastructure and facilitation, in quality and quantity, such as electricity system, water system, and telecommunication system, road network, and other transportation channels. Two-thirds of the country has no electricity while Rangoon, the economic area, has insufficient emergency generator. It is always black out. Business has to have personal electric generator which causes high maintenance cost. As a result, choosing factory location is important otherwise many obstacles and high production cost may cause long term effect in competition.

Agricultural industrial and fisheries processing
Myanmar is plentiful with cheap, quality, and various agricultural and fishery products. Agricultural and fishery sectors share 40% of GDP and there are plenty of lands along the seashore which have been utilized. I remember that in the past years, Myanmar had lot of “Mantis shrimp” which was very rare and expensive in Thailand. Thai businessmen purchased it from Myanmar for a period of time but China, recently, take over it and Mantis shrimp becomes rare and expensive again.

However, the overall processing industry in Myanmar is considered to be in underdeveloped level, have limited production capacity, and insufficient for domestic requirement. Consequently, processing products have low quality and not really have good image. Hence, if the business to be invested for agricultural and fishery processing has the brand, technology, management system and good business network, this is the opportunity to gain more benefits from agricultural and fishery raw material.

Unskilled Labor-Intensive Industry such as processing food factory, shoes and costume factories. Myanmar has 60 million populations and there is high rate of unemployment. As a result, employment rate in Myanmar is only one-fifth of Thailand. Thus, Myanmar has the readiness in quantity labor. For processing industry, Myanmar has lot of cheap material so that products produced in Myanmar reduce transportation and logistics cost compare to Thai products distributed to Myanmar. It would more widely expand to target groups.

Furthermore, these products have special tariff privilege from developed countries and China in which is a good opportunity to expand to the oversea markets. Anyhow, in terms of quality, these labors lack of labor skill. Relevant business may undertake a burden of training for this labor group. The experts in labor management may be required in this case in order to reduce the risk of local labor strike.

Tourism service It is one of business expecting to be expand rapidly. Myanmar is the new open country to tourists and there are lots of charming tourist attractions and historical places. Moreover, Myanmar has economic and political stability so it enhances the interest of foreign tourists from government and public sectors. Thus, it is expected that there will be more number of tourists come to Myanmar in the future. In particular, when the infrastructure and utilities system and the complicated regulations and transportation have not been much developed, the travelers need more and more tourism service to facilitate themselves. Apart from general tour service, merit tour and business tour, hotel, restaurant, souvenir shop, and bus service are the long term business opportunity.

Myanmar has high potential of being cultivated area and rice and other agricultural products exporter of ASEAN. Consequently, Myanmar needs lot of agricultural machines such as tractors, and small rice mills. Nevertheless, local agricultures must avoid using chemical fertilizers, insecticide, and herbicide. Used car and left-hand and right-hand stir wheel spare parts business (most of used car have right-hand stir wheel. After changing to drive on the right lane, people have changed to use more left-hand stir wheel car) have a lot of promise.

In the meantime, with 60 million populations in Myanmar, entering through Rangoon, Mandalay, Naypyidaw, and Myawaddy, there are potential markets for consumable products e.g. processing food, energy drink, snacks, and vegetable oil, even MSG which no longer favorable in Thailand is still in favor of Burmese. All these products can be distributed at cross-border trade.

Main cities of Myanmar that are under the developing from the push of Burmese who are living in oversea and foreign investors will lead real estate investment (office and residence) and infrastructure. From this reason, the demand of leasing/buying real estate and construction equipment will be increasing, especially cement, roofing and floor tiles, sanitary ware and equipment, and furniture. The market of construction equipment is very large and attracts Thai firms to establish cement factory and product hub in Myanmar.

In addition, the demand of systematic service business and franchise, restaurant, office, hotel, health and spa service is increasing rapidly. However, medical treatment, and education are still underdeveloped and investment law and regulation are complicated. Thus, Thai businesses normally designate the representative to search for target customers to come to use service in Thailand.

From the above information, you may question why I am not suggesting energy and petroleum business investment in Myanmar since it is the source of water, petrol, and natural gas. This is because there are only few Thai firms which has potential and are ready for the investment.

Laos has three special characteristics. Firstly, political stability and government. It is obvious that in the past years, there were few negative news on political stability and security of Laos. Secondly, the plentiful natural resources; Laos has natural minerals, water sources, and cultivated area, particularly when comparing to number of population in the country. Lastly, the similarity of culture of Laos and Thailand (north east of Thailand) which is very outstanding and it is convenient for Thai people to survey tourism business or run the business in Laos.

On the other hand, three aspects should be concerned when trading in Laos. First, domestic market is a small size market. Laos has 6 million populations, which is only 10% of population in Myanmar, and slowly increasing. Focusing on the market in each city, people have low purchasing power. If Thai investors rely on domestic market of Myanmar, they have to accept the low rate of growth. However, Laos has quantitative purchasing power from businesspersons and foreign tourists to fulfill. Secondly, Laos encounters the unpreparedness of infrastructure and utilities system. It may take a long time to develop this section. Thirdly, Laos is the land lock country so, to import and export products, Laos needs to “stand on somebody's legs” by transporting products via Vietnam and Thailand, in which increases cost of logistics. However, Laos is trying to change the crisis to opportunity by emphasizing on being the “land link” between China and ASEAN. What is the business opportunity for Thai entrepreneurs in Laos?

Consumable products It will be the main product in Laos market in long term with various reason: good image of Thai products in Laos, restriction of production in Laos, and location and borders link the gateway between Thailand – Laos ordered by its significance as Nong Khai, Mukdahan, Ubon Ratchathani, and Chiang Rai. Potential consumable products are processing food, snacks, powdered detergent and cleanliness products, mosquito-repellent, and designed accessories.

Health/Beauty service and spa products Thai people are role models for Laos for make-up and beauty treatment. This may be because of the influence of Thai television broadcasted in Laos. Thus, beauty salon and massage/spa are the businesses that do not require high investment but gain very good feedback. Shop can be the channel to distribute Thai cosmetics, Thai spa and health products which have good image and standard. All these shops may be developed as a franchise and open in community area. Banner of the well-known Thai presenter posted up in front of the shop will attract lot of customers. Laos are in favor of Thai cosmetic and spa products.

Tourism Business Similar to Myanmar, Laos is the fascinated country for tourism. Apart from historical places, there are the mountain range with beautiful scenery, political stability, low cost tourism, and standard security which are very remarkable. For this reasons, tourism is rapidly expanding. However, because of the low number of population and low income of Laos people, Thai entrepreneurs should focus on foreigner as the target group. Thai-Laos tour program is one of interesting plan whereas hotel, restaurant, coffee shop and bus tour businesses are the long term business opportunity.

Additionally, Laos has lot of water sources and cultivated lands so it has potential of cultivated area in which resulted in the requirement of agricultural machines and equipment e.g. cultivator, fertilizer and herbicide spray. Meanwhile, Laos people are in favor of decorating their car to show their economic status so automobile and spare parts, accessories, film, car audio, and are in high mag wheel and GPS are in high demand. Further, car center for maintenance and decoration are very popular, particularly in the main cities.

Cambodia Cambodia is outstanding for political stability. Cambodia has the Prime Minister who has the longest period in position in Asia, so, the policies and direction of economic development are consistent. Moreover, location and route networks link between Thailand-Cambodia are the supportive factors to develop trade and investment cooperation. Lastly, historic site which is “world heritage”, especially Angkor Wat which is the most important site appeals to people around the world to visit Cambodia.

Conversely, Cambodia has limitation on infrastructure and utilities though they are better than Myanmar. This point affect Cambodia to encounter the negative effects. They are the high cost of land, particularly in the economic zone area such as Phnom Penh. Economic expansion and direct investment from oversea countries lead to the rapid expansion of real estate market and resulted in high price of land and office/residence recently.

Tourism cluster service It become rapidly expand and has high potential to grow in the long term. There are lot of charming and superior historical sites such as Angor Wat and Angkor Thom. Moreover, it has political and economic stability which tops up the interest of the representative of government and private sectors and public to gain economic and tourism advantages in Myanmar. It is expected more foreigners to come to Myanmar in the future. When infrastructure and utilities system are underdeveloped and regulations and transportation are complicated, the travelers require more tourism service for more convenience. Aside from general tour, merit tour and business tour, hotel, restaurant, souvenir shops and tour bus businesses are the long term business opportunity.

Consumable products In Cambodia market, consumers spend more than half of their expenditure to purchase food and non-alcohol drinks, cosmetics whereas household appliances and communication device become popular. We can see wealthy Cambodian buy new large TV, not only for entertainment purpose but also for showing their economic status.

Vietnam The strengths of Vietnam compare to CLMV are economic potential. In terms of quantity, Vietnam has almost 100 million people. In terms of quality, Vietnamese have the attribute of entrepreneurs and only have average age at 30 year-old. Meanwhile, Vietnam economic growth rate is stable recently and it is predicted that Vietnam will be one of the countries which has highest rate of economy growth in the next 20 years.

Direct investment guarantee of foreigners in potential target industry such as electric equipment and electronic industry enhances skills of Vietnamese labors which is an important basic for long term development. Besides, Vietnam continuously extends economic cooperation; apart from ASEAN, ASEAN-China, and Greater Mekong, Vietnam has signed RCEP, APEC, and TPP which will be the significant factor to strengthen exportation opportunity and enhance international competitiveness. For Thai products and services, they have good images in overall.

In contrast, trading in Vietnam has many concerns. First, Vietnam has an obvious difference on being production base. That is to say Vietnam is market and production source. Thus, to enter Vietnam market with exportation pattern may cause the competitive problem.

Second, Vietnam has unclear law and regulations, especially finance and currency exchange rate system which is non-standard. Besides, Vietnam is not ready for infrastructure and utilities system such as electricity and water systems, telecommunication, route networks. Long geographic shape make economic cities diffuse. Thus, to choose the location of factory to be consistent with target market is essential otherwise it cause long term effects.

Automobile and maintenance center Streets full of motorbikes is one of the images that foreigners always speak of Vietnam. For local people, motorbike is the fifth requisites. Currently, though maintenance centers are simple, there are more and more new bikers use service of standard center. If Vietnam economic is growing, behavior on using motorbike will absolutely change to using car. Motorbike/car dealer and maintenance center business have a lot of promise.

Consumable product With more purchasing power, qualitative and quantitative, the demand of consumable products: food and drinks e.g. energy drinks, processing fruits, and snack, cosmetics, household appliances, furniture, construction equipment, agriculture machine are growing.

Services business Thailand is remarkable for service business, it is known as "heaven of tourists". The main factor is the readiness of service, food, and entertainment businesses. Meanwhile, medical treatment and health services of Thailand is in the world class level. Thai education has higher potential than these neighboring countries. Consequently, service business has higher standard and readiness than CLMV. Thus, service business which brings Vietnamese to use service in Thailand such as training/education purpose, tourism, and medical treatment and beauty business is a big market.

In conclusion, CLMV may not be the large size of market but they have high potential and opportunity of Thai products and services in long term. Considering the demand of these countries, their demand are similar. Thus, entering to these markets will see the inclusive picture of CLMV market that it is large and have high potential. Consumers in each country and area are the variable of significantly difference of taste and consuming behavior. Thai entrepreneurs, thus, should study the environment factors in deep details before set marketing strategy for target markets.
